Many years ago, I accepted an athletic scholarship to play golf and attend Michigan State University. When I made that decision, I chose to follow my passion, knowing that golf would take over my life. Competing and being successful at the Division I level for four years made me realize I could take my game to the next level and become a professional golfer.

Turning professional is quite different from the college level. Trying to make it on the PGA Tour, I have spent many hours behind the wheel traveling weeks on end chasing the mini tours and PGA Tour Monday qualifiers. It is a hard game but I have had some success. I have won four times at the professional level and qualified for six PGA Tour events.

As I continue my playing career, in between tournaments I would like to take a step in a different direction and pass on my knowledge of the game and swing. While playing is my passion, giving lessons and teaching is the best way to give back and grow the game. As a teacher/instructor, I would like to make this game as simple as possible for everyone who picks up the club. If you are willing to give it a shot, I will help you enjoy this great game for many years to come.
